Bookmaker Duffy Gets a $1,000 Bet on McAuliffe.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY RACE TRACE, Sept. 5.— Bookmaker John Duffy occupied his leisure McAuliffe-Myer fight, which takes place at New Orleans to-night. McAuliffe was quoted at even money and a few small bets were registered, when a stranger sauntered up to the stand, and handing up ten crisp $100 bills, said, "Bet you a thousand on McAuliffe."

Duffy was staggered for a moment, but recovered and took the bet. McAuliffe's price then went down to 4 to 5. Duffy did not who saw the sa

The opening event was a dash over the Futurity course for two-year-olds. Spartan was an even money favorite, and was heavily played b, the plungera. Good things always go wrong on holidays, however, and such was the case to-day. Simmons, a 6 to 1 chance, beat the favorite a head in a pretty finish. Haicyon, a 10 to 1 chance, was third only a neck away.

In the Woodstock Stakes two-year-olds were asked to go a mile. Tar and Tartar was a bot odds-on favorite, and the talent plunged to get even on their reverses in the first race. The Gideen colt was net as good, however, as his admirers inacted he was. Wormser, a 10 to 1 chance, made all the running up to the last few strides, when kmin Bey came with a rush and won at the post by a head-oldan, as 25 to 1, was third. The favorite was fifth. Anna B, and Actiolam were stonenell's only opposents in the third race, and the latter had a practical walkover, Anna B, was seen ond.

broughout the city. The downtown exchanges were described and silent. The bulls and bears had closed their bickerings and gone fishing or to the ball game, or the races There was cricket, iscresse and golf, cy-nian games, picnics, festivals, dances and, in fact, every conceivable variety of pleasure for Labor Day But the chief and central event of the day was, of course, the great parade of organized labor, in which seventy unions participated. The parade was marshalled by A. F. Lovering. He is a member of Typographical Union No. 6, which furnished in William McCabe the Grand Marshal for the first Labor Day parade, in 1882. Since that time the Grand Marshals of the Central Labor Union parades In 1888, Henry O. Cole ; In 1884, William McCabe; 1885, Paul Meyer; 1886, James P. Archibald; 1887, John Morrison; 1888, John Three deaths occurred during Saturday Suilivan; 1880, George Cavanagh; 1890, Charles P. Rogers, and last year, Michael J.

> Origin of the Holiday. The idea of a holiday consecrated to the laboring classes was the conception of P. J. McGuire, General Secretary of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, in 1881.

Grand Marshal's Aide.

Beginning in 1884, the first Monday in Sep-tember was set apart for Labor's parade, and in 1883 the Legislature passed a law making the first Monday in May a legal ho known as Labor Day, but nobody observed It, and in 1886 the law was amended to read " first Monday in September." Since then other States have adopted the idea. Grand Marshal Lovering selected William

Tobin and Eugene O'Rourke for his aides, and for Brigade Marshals, Frank W. Balmes, United Wood-Carvers; James Monaghan United Order of American Stairbullders; Robert J. Hissert, United Clothing-Cutters, and Francis T. Koely, Gold-Beaters' Union. The line of march was the shortest re-adopted—from Eighth street and Fourth ave pust the reviewing stand at the col Union square, through Seventeenth st Firth avenue, to Thirty-fourth street,
